

Standard Transfer Plate

There are Transfer Plates available for applications where the transfer position is mechanically attached to the external system. Transfer Plates have alignment features. Transfer Plates are manufactured in aluminium with anodized surface finish.

