

Active Plate Alignment

For applications requiring extremely high alignment accuracy there is an Active Plate Alignment available. The Active Plate Alignment is attached to the Transfer Plate. Every time a plate is accessed by the external system, the Active Plate Alignment is selected. The alignment takes approximately one second. The alignment accuracy is accurate to more than 0.1 mm. The Active Plate Alignment is controlled by the external system. The access is performed through the handler communication port.

